

Operation Hexfall

Mission

- Hexfall was brought to the the government's attention after they opened an online weapons marketplace running on the darknet.
- It is believed they have two crates of weapons onsite as well as the hardware to run their own online weapons marketplace.
- You must take down the online weapon marketplace and take control of both weapons crates.

Mission

- Intel indicates that Hexfall's lead hacker has a flash drive where he stores the passwords to all their computers.
- You must obtain the flash drive, get the passwords, login to the remote server, and takedown the website.
- Your mission is complete when you take down the Hexfall website and take control of both weapons crates.
